Open House Saturday At New Wells Fargo Bank

Wells Fargo Bank will celebrate the grand opening of its new Carmel office with ribbon-cutting ceremonies at 1 p.m. Saturday, followed by an open house until 5 p.m..

Using a pair of gold shears, Mayor Herbert Blanks will perform the ribbon-cutting honors.

Thomas L. Craig, vice-president and manager of the branch, will introduce the Mayor and other honored guests.

Invited to attend are A. W. Clark and Lewis Fenton, developers of the Carmel office property, located on San Carlos Street; Howard Quinan, James Pruitt and Edward Neroda of Comstock Associates, general contractors for the project, and Olof Dahlstrand, the architect.

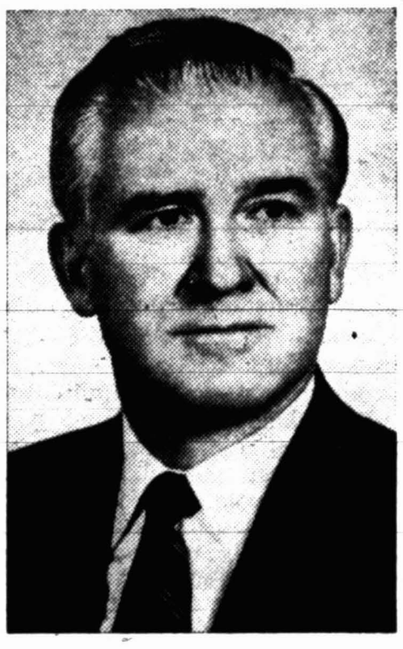
Representing Wells Fargo Bank will be Mr. Craig; Assistant Manager Frederick K. Duhring; Roland Tavernetti, vice president and manager of the Salinas district; K. Stanley Thompson, vice president in charge of the Peninsula Division; and members of his staff, including Sigmund E. Beritzhoff, vice president, and Jack G. Nielsen, assistant vice president.

After the ceremonies, visitors will be welcomed at an open house and inspection of the premises and facilities. Refreshments will be served.

A special, three-panel exhibit featuring historical Wells Fargo mementoes will be on display. The new quarters will open officially for business on Monday.

The modern, open, one-story building with partial second floor, combines sheer glass with concrete walls and columns. Customers will be served by 11 teller windows in the spacious main banking lobby where flooring is of quarry tile. The new building will provide a walk-up window with generously canopied walkway, a night depository and safe deposit accommodations.

Parking will be provided for up to 20 automobiles. The parking area will be designated by an unusual, handsome sign bearing the bank's name and a replica of its Concord stagecoach — Wells Fargo's corporate symbol. Hand carved, beautifully detailed, the stagecoach is the work of Carmel wood sculptor Howell Armor.



THOMAS L. CRAIG

When Wells Fargo Bank's Carmel office opens for business on Monday in its new building on San Carlos Street, Vice President and Manager Thomas L. Craig, and Assistant Manager Frederick F. Duhring will welcome customers to expanded services and facilities.

Mr. Craig joined Wells Fargo in 1927 and has been head of the Carmel office for the past ten years.

"The new, larger quarters enable us to keep pace with a stable, growing community," Craig said.

Born in Kansas, Mr. Craig was brought up in Salinas and attended the University of the Pacific at Stockton. His first job with Wells Fargo was in the commercial loan department of the bank's Salinas office. He served with the Salinas branch continuously until 1955 when he was assigned to the Carmel office.

He is treasurer of the Carmel Rotary Club and a member of the Carmel Business Association and Carmel Realty Board. He also belongs to the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife, Mary Catherine, reside in Pebble Beach.

Editor's Column

What is a Carmel-type street light and standard.

In the village days of the city there were no street lights and many citizens would like to see the same situation prevail today. But progress, population and police problems caught up with Carmel, at least in the commercial zone, and the first street light, at Ocean and Dolores, was installed. It was a metal reflector and a bulb fastened to a wooden pole. Carmel street lights are, essentially, the same design today. Look at them!

However, the city council has decided we shall have modern, 30-feet high standards, either metal or concrete, for the new underground serviced street lights on Dolores south of Ocean. On top of these "a shower of soft light" will be shed from a fixture on a metal arm but neither the pole nor the fixture will enhance the character of Carmel. But neither did the old tin reflector on a pole, nor does the present lighting system employing cluttered wooden service poles.

The new street light design chosen by the council has, at least, stark simplicity. Wiring will be underground, a much needed beautification of the business district.

Some citizens have proposed that, instead of the new poles with overhanging metal arms, Carmel should have a gas lantern type of street lights like those which used to glimmer faintly in the Victorian fogs of London.

Last night, the council postponed, for a month, installation of the new freeway type standards. During the interim, the Klenke Committee will explore gas lighting for the business zone.

Others would like to have street

LIGHTING EXPERT APPOINTED TO SUNSET COMMISSION

An authority on stage and theatre lighting was added to the Sunset Commission last night when the council approved Mayor Herbert Blanks' appointment of Captain Frank M. Falge (USNR Ret.) to fill the unexpired term of Wallace Doolittle.

Captain Falge is a Carmel resident. From 1928-1931, he was in charge of stage and theatre lighting for Paramount Publix Corporation of New York and for the next ten years was associated with General Electric Company in the same field.

A 1924 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, he returned to active Navy duty during World War II then from 1945-1961, again resumed work in lighting with General Electric.

He has edited several books on lighting for stages, theatres and decoration and has developed numerous stage lighting equipments.

Finances Tackled By Citizens Committee With School Board

The citizens committee to study financial problems of the Carmel Unified School District devoted the better part of two hours last night to an attempt to determine its exact function, requesting the board of education, present by invitation, to outline more specifically what is expected of the study group.

During the round-table discussion which took place, each trustee presented his opinion concerning the board's intent. Agreement on one point was clear, that the board does not seek "rubber stamp" approval of the educational program or fiscal policies. Committee members, in turn, expressed their concern relative to the scope of their activities.

In positive action, the committee moved to approve the district's present budget, with the intention of proceeding to consider the projected financial needs of the district as outlined by the board; and to invite Superintendent Medill Bair to explain to the committee in more detail what the Assistant Manager Frederick F. Duhring has been with Wells Fargo since 1946 and became assistant manager of the Carmel office in 1959. He had eight years interim experience in the bank's real estate loan department at the San Francisco head office, also served in the Fourteenth and Broadway office, Oakland, and the San Leandro office.

Born and raised in Berkeley, he is a graduate of the University of California. Mr. Duhring's great-grandfather, Frederick Duhring,

Council Moves From Auctions To Fire Engine

It took four hours, but in this period, last night, the city council tidied up dangling details of unfinished business, such as granting free use of Sunset Center premises to the American Federation of Arts, and moved towards legislation to control plaguing problems including an ordinance regulating auction sales.

Postponed for a month was the installation of 30-foot street lighting standards on Dolores Street. Authorized was preparation of specifications for a new fire engine and the removal of center island walk-throughs in two blocks on Ocean Avenue, also new stop signs in various locations and diagonal parking on Junipero below Ocean. Protective sheds for Forest Theater equipment were considered, and rest rooms for Forest Hill Park approved.

Following the reading of a letter from Leonard Klene, chairman of the committee for the formation of the Arts Council of the Monterey Peninsula, stating that none of the cultural groups associated with this venture opposed rent-free use of former cafeteria and kitchen premises at Sunset Center by the local AFA chapter, the council approved this use, recommended by the Sunset Commission, providing utility and janitorial expenses ($15-$18 a month) are paid by the AFA.

AUCTION SALES

City Attorney William Burleigh discussed with the council details of an ordinance to control auction sales. Tentative approval was given to a 9 p.m. closing time, although Stanton Bier, president of the Fine Arts Gallery of Carmel,

Teen-Agers Will Sing Christmas Carols In Plaza

Youth groups from five Carmel churches successfully petitioned the city council, last night, for a Christmas carolling program and erection of a creche, both in Devendorf Plaza.

Roger Fonseca, spokesman for the young people of Carmel Mission Basilica, All Saints' Episcopal Church, Church of the Wayfarer, Carmel Presbyterian Church and Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, told the council that the teen-agers have appointed committees to handle details of the project with the aid of adult advisors. These advisors are John Farr, Miss Jo Brazell, Mrs. E. A. Odello, the Reverend Roger J. Dieudonne, the Reverend David Hill, the Reverend Lawrence K. Whitfield, the Reverend George Hunter Hall and the Reverend Burkert Cree.

Starting on December 15, plans are for carolling in the town plaza on two nights a week at 7 p.m. The creche will be developed slowly, possibly one figure a year, starting with a star this year, Roger Fonseca stated. He promised that the nativity scene would combine "the Christian spirit of Christmas and the artistic talents of the community."

Impressed with the proposal, which originated with the youth of the churches, the council approved the project for this year, provided someone was appointed as a liaison representative between the youth groups and the city, and that the council's lands and improvements committee approves physical aspects of the project on city property.

Realtors To Install Officers Wednesday

George Conn will be installed as the new president of the Carmel Board of Realtors on Wednesday when the organization will meet for its annual installation ceremonies at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. Jack Martin will assume the office of vice president and May Youngberg that of secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors are Arthur Strasburger Jr. and M. A. "Skip" Marquard, two-year terms; Charles McEwen and H. Wesley Ball, three-year terms; and Claire Cross, one-year term. Mr. Conn, Mr. Marquard and Mr. McEwen have also been appointed state directors to the California Real Estate Association. Robert E. Ross is the state delegate.

In accepting an extension of duty, Mr. Horan leaves the post of Peace Corps director of Costa Rica, where he has been in charge since the summer of 1964, to guide one of the largest, if not the largest, of the corps' programs in the world.

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Once again we wish to thank the sponsors and officials of the Great Sand Castle Contest—Don Brown in particular—for permitting us to join in the grand and glorious event. Last year we wrote that the tremendous satisfaction of winning the grand prize is too overwhelming to be won by one group repeatedly; this year when the grand prize went most sensibly to another group, we found we really didn't mean it at all.

Therefore we submit these proposals for consideration: that grand prize winners, or anyone recklessly confidant of outcreating them, compete in a special category and be awarded an emeritus grand prize of lesser fanfare and magnitude than the regular grand prize shovel, perhaps hand trowel size. Or possibly the winner of the grand prize be asked to judge the next year with the understanding that if winners compete again, they refrain from ruling on their own entry.

We suggest that to save officials miles of walking, contestants register at the official stand with category and details ready. We offer these suggestions not to confound or confuse hard working sponsors, but rather to promote the wonders of sand castle building.

We offer our apologies for any terse replies to questions asked by spectators during the contest and submit this information: any large sand castle of real pretentions requires at least five people working steadily five hours with wind, fast drying sand, hands shaking from over enthusiastic shoveling, blisters from same, confusion from crowd, sunburn, and general fatigue reducing possible inherent artistic abilities. We regret that there is not time to discuss with each person details, much less the spectacular philosophy of sand castle-ing.

Of our own membership activities I can divulge only this — an immediate vote you disregard last year's letter; next year's project quickly selected and security measures noted; and a lengthy noisy discussion, argument and debate of this year's defeat.

However, Grand Illuminator Sari McFarlane retired to a corner with a peculiar expression on her face. She is now lettering a new beach sign for next year's contest reading—"Revenge of the Carmel Gangsters!"

Very truly yours,
Perpetual Eminent and
Addled Wizard of the
Carmel Gangsters
Anne McFarlane
Clovis, California

P.S.—Our membership voted a rousing cheer to the sand artist creator of the clever and beautifully executed archeological entry, "Beautiful Bones."

Mari Arnold, left, and Donna Manning, far right, volunteer Junior Mints at Carmel Convalescent Hospital, offer their assistance at meal time to a senior patient, Fulton Pratt, while the hospital director, Mrs. J. A. (Ritchie) Patterson, offers a cheerful word of encouragement to the ambulatory resident.

On Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m., the 18 Junior Mints, all Carmel High School students, will be hostesses to their parents and other interested people at an open house at the convalescent hospital. Organized in July under the guidance of Mrs. Edwin Austing of Carmel, the function of the young volunteers is to serve the community by helping the senior citizens at the hospital under the supervision of a registered nurse. They are oriented to their duties by Mrs. Patterson.

Junior Mints report at 4 p.m. and serve until 6 p.m., visiting the patients, reading to them, passing trays, feeding, gathering up trays, making the patients comfortable and offering other courtesies for their enjoyment.

Although they are not permitted to do any actual nursing procedures, the training is of great significance to the girls. Of even greater value are their services to the hospital and, in particular, to the senior patients without families or friends in the area.

Others currently enrolled as Junior Mints are Karen Gregg, Sherry Thomas, Tomi France, Susan Allaman, Taffy Thomas, Valerie Richards, Chris Morrice, Amanda Lawford, Dee Kelsey, Debbie Gaskell, Chris Parga, Kit Hawkins, Karen Austing, Sherri Stuart, Diane Hawkins and Linda Shelton.

The public is invited to inspect the facilities of the Carmel Convalescent Hospital on Sunday. Refreshments will be served.

TO TELL OF VISIT IN AFRICA WITH DR. SCHWEITZER

On November 11, members of Carmel Mission Altar Society will hear Mrs. Alvin J. (Hildegarde) Fererra speak of her recent four-month trip to Africa and her visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer in Lambarene before his death. The meeting will be held at Crespi Hall at 2 p.m.

HEARING ON CONDOR COUNTRY

A matter of concern for the residents of Monterey County, which contains vast areas of the Los Padres National Forest, and where a number of fortunate individuals have sighted the rare and magnificent California Condor, deep within its rugged back country, is a public hearing to be held in Santa Barbara this coming Monday.

The San Rafael Primitive Area, in the southern part of the Los Padres National Forest, is the first unit of wilderness in the United States to be proposed for addition to the new National Wilderness Preservation System, under the provisions of the 1964 Wilderness Act. The United States Forest Service has developed a recommendation for this purpose, and a public hearing will be held on its proposal on Monday at 9:00 a.m. in the auditorium of the Public Works Building, Santa Barbara.

As a model, and test case. the San Rafael Primitive Area will establish precedents affecting reclassification of other wilderness areas throughout the country. A Citizens San Rafael Wilderness Committee has been formed which supports the U.S. Forest Service proposals, but which wishes to make further additions and enlargements to the areas proposed which would insure continuing protection of the rare and endangered California Condor, also where it roosts and nests in land of superb wilderness quality. The area is characterized by steep, brushy slopes and rocky cliffs and includes essential flyways of the condor, that largest of all soaring land birds of the United States.

LITTLE LYRIC THEATER

The Little Lyric Theater of Big Sur will give repeat performances, this Sunday, of Henry Purcell's "King Arthur and the Saxons," and an original work, "Forward and Backward," the music of which was written by two members of the company, Darien Hopkins and Greg Granoff. The programs at 2:30 and 8:00 p.m. will be staged at the Tantamount Theatre in Carmel Valley.

The Little Lyric Theater's first performance of these musical plays was given the end of August in the Big Sur Grange Hall, at the close of the second year of operation of this summertime workshop for children. The Lyric Theater is a non-profit organization the purpose of which is to encourage and develop the musical talents of children through education and musical production. The theater is the realization of a "dream come true" for its capable, enthusiastic and dedicated director, Gene Perrine, and its beginning was made possible through the generosity of a member of the Big Sur community. Working with Mr. Perrine, who is well known as a musical instructor in the Carmel Unified School District and as director of the Big Sur's Annual Potluck Revue, in this rich and rewarding project for young people is Catherine Bengston, assistant and photographer; Eve and Harry-Dick Ross, in charge of costumes and properties; Marge Johnson and Audrey Cordrey, assisting with costumes; Lili Selvig, choreographer; Mark Sullivan, stage manager; and Martha Senger, posters. On the staff of the Little Lyric Theater also, is Robert Skiles, who is art instructor and in charge of lighting for the performances. Mr. Skiles, a teacher of art in the Carmel schools, has been closely associated with the theater since its inception.

It is fitting that the performances on Sunday be staged in Carmel Valley for members of the company come from both Big Sur and Carmel Valley. Arrangements for the Tantamount Theater performance are being taken care of by Angene Feves, representative for John Geddis and Francois Martin, operators of the theatre.

On stage Sunday will be Alba Arboleda, Chet and Tim Cordrey, Gregg and Leslie Drew, Greg and Peter Granoff, Gary and Michelle Holmes, Craig, Darien, Heidi and Chris Hopkins, Linda Klemek, Susan McCabe, Steven Savoldi, Sara and Susan Senger, Tegan Speiser and Sylvia Trotter.

NEW OFFICERS

The Coast Property Owners Association, at their annual meeting last Monday evening held at the Big Sur Grange Hall, elected the following new officers: president, Hans Ewoldsen; vice president, H. W. Masson; secretary, Catherine Bengston; and treasurer, Charles Mohn.

Christmas Bureau Needs More Toys

The Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureau again is collecting toys to be given to underprivileged children at Christmas time. Any playthings in repairable or good condition may be left at any of the Peninsula's fire stations. Men at the U.S. Naval Air Facility will repair bicycles and large wheel toys. A gift of a bicycle to a boy may give him the opportunity to earn money to augment his family's income.

Mrs. C. Mark Thomas, publicity chairman for the Christmas Bureau, reports that toys have been coming in slowly. She hopes that they will be donated faster because Christmas is just seven weeks away.

Further information, if desired, may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Thomson J. Hudson (624-5331), Christmas Bureau chairman.

Major De Amaral

Requiem mass was celebrated Tuesday morning in Carmel Mission Basilica, following brief rites in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel, Monterey, for Major Charles Frank DeAmaral, whose death occurred October 4 in Viet Nam. The Army Air Corps officer, reported missing October 6, died when his aircraft crashed after being hit by enemy fire during a reconnaisance mission.

Born in Carmel September 6, 1931, Major DeAmaral spent his early childhood at Carmel Highlands, first attending Bay School near Point Lobos. He then became a student at Sunset School and at Notre Dame (now Junipero Serra School) at Carmel Mission, where he served as an altar boy. His secondary schooling was completed at Monterey High School and Bellarmine School in San Jose. The young career officer received his military commission in 1955 upon graduation from New Mexico Military Institute.

With his wife, Patricia, whom he married in 1957, and his four children, he often returned to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeAmaral of River Ranch, Carmel Valley. Major DeAmaral and his family spent the period of his military leave here this past summer before he reported for special training and duty in Viet Nam, and his family remained to establish a home in Carmel Valley.

In addition to his wife, he leaves three sons, Frank II, Zane Edmond and Gwyn Patrick, and a daughter, Mary Elizabeth; and a number of aunts, uncles and cousins residing in this area.

Burial took place in the family plot at Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Major DeAmaral may do so to the Chapel Building Fund, New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, New Mexico.

GATHERED DATA FOR BOOK

With a new book in preparation, author Mona (Mrs. Henry Meade) Williams has been in Berkeley observing life on the University of California campus and gathering material on student protest movements. She also spent several days in San Francisco doing research for her novel which will employ both cities as a background.

Laura Loleen Is A Bride

In a candlelight ceremony on Saturday, Laura Loleen Funk, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold A. Funk of Carmel, became the bride of Frank Xavier Brady Jr. The evening service was read by the Reverend William J. Sweeting at the First Baptist Church in Monterey.

Loleen, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a full length princess-style gown of white brocade, designed with glove-point sleeves, an empire waist accented with pearl drops and a scoop neck adorned with white mink. A detachable Watteau train flowed from the shoulder line. White mink held her shoulder-length veil to her hair and she carried a cascade of white carnations.

Judith Lee Getz of Pacific Grove, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Joan Campos and Jackie Dinkle of Monterey, wore identical gowns of cognac velvet, fashioned with long chiffon sleeves, empire waistlines and scoop necks. Their matching veils were caught in place by clusters of sheer leaves.

Linda Hazdovac of Pacific Grove was the flower girl and Herman Campos of Monterey served as ring bearer.

The bridegroom asked Edward E. Betz of Cincinnati, Ohio, to be his best man and the ushers were Warren Penniman Jr. of Santa Cruz and Kent Johnson of Berkeley. The candlelighters were Jim Huffman of Toro Park and Roddy Johnson of Pebble Beach.

The bride, who graduated from Carmel High School and attended Munson's Business College in San Francisco, is the proprietor of the Cosmetic and Gift Bar in Monterey. She has one brother, Dean Funk, who is serving with the Seabees in Viet Nam.

Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank X. Brady Sr. of Cincinnati, is associated with the Mahle Insurance Agency of Watsonville.

The newlyweds will make their home in Pacific Grove when they return from a honeymoon in Palm Springs.

Tombola Mart Winners

Several Carmel residents were the fortunate holders of winning door prize tickets at the recent Tombola Mart sponsored by Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services.

Miss Anne Hibbs' ticket entitles her to have a sculpture portrait made by sculptress Lenore Woolens; Mrs. Clarence Bates received a set of phonograph records; Mrs. Gladys M. Jones was awarded a dresser set; Miss Marion Hughes drew a large decorative candle.

Other local winners included Mrs. M. L. Davey (a set of melodic door chimes), Mrs. E. E. Pride (an instruction book on skiing), Mrs. Edith Jamieson (a candle in artichoke shape), Stanley Oakes (a pot of chrysanthemums), Mrs. Perry Boggess (a set of beauty preparations) and Mrs. H. G. Smith of Carmel Hacienda (an electric percolator with matching sugar and creamer).

Royal British Visitors

Although publicity was officially shunned, the press has forced confirmation of the visit to the Peninsula of Her Royal Highness, Princess Margaret, and her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones, Earl of Snowdon, who will be luncheon guests at Stuyvesant Fish's Palo Corona Ranch on Saturday.

The royal party and other guests will dine on an entirely western menu, including western oysters and California wines, which has been arranged by their host who will also supervise the barbecuing of one of the Imperial "wild" boars which he raises. Assisting Mr. Fish in preparations for the party is his step-sister, Mrs. Henry Rathbun of Washington, D.C., who will serve as his hostess.

Accompanying Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon will be her lady-in-waiting, Lady Elizabeth Cavendish; Miss Sharman Douglas, daughter of a former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain; Group Captain Vaughn-Fowler Robert Hayden; and Chief Inspector Crocker of Scotland Yard.

Guests who have been invited to meet the royal couple include Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Carver of Woodside; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt Jr. and Gorham Knowles, all of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne of Pebble Beach; Captain and Mrs. Leonard Kirby of Hobe Sound, Florida, and Pebble Beach; Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Smith of Carmel; Dr. and Mrs. Edmund von Hasseln of Monterey; and Captain Selby McCreery of Tres Pinos.

Party For The Silverbergs

In honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Silverberg (Donna Work), Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Work Jr. will entertain at a cocktail dance at Del Monte Lodge on Sunday evening.

The Silverbergs and their baby boy, Michael, arrived on the coast from New York last summer and are making their home in Palo Alto where Dr. Silverberg is completing his residency at Stanford Hospital. Donna, who graduated magna cum laude from Columbia Law School in June and recently took her California Bar examination, is working part-time as a research assistant for a Stanford law professor at present.

A New Stuefloten

Kari Aileen is the name of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stuefloten's new daughter, who was born in Santa Clara on October 26. It's a good thing her little sister Tracey was here visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sands, else the family newcomer might be sharing Tracey's case of chickenpox.

Kari's paternal grandparents, the Walter Stueflotens, will have to postpone their first look at her, since they are already in Hawaii to take over running Kona Plantation. The new baby is the niece of Susan Sands, now attending Foothill College, Jon Stuefloten of Boston, and Mrs. John Guzik and Mrs. Thomas Crampton of Carmel.

Donkey Ride, Anyone?

Commanded to enter astride a donkey stationed at the door, members of the Twenty-Forty Club couldn't very well maintain their dignity at the gala costume party they held at the American Legion Hall October 23, and many of the 50 couples attending turned up in outfits which added to the hilarity of the evening.

Dee and Alex Olivetti not only offered entertainment but took charge of the P.A. system, and Eleanor Wallace accompnaied herself on guitar to sing original and folk songs, much to the delight of everyone. Among the contributions after the spaghetti dinner was Barney Laiolo's musical program on his improvised "gut bucket."

The origin of the Twenty-Forty Club dates back to depression days, when young local couples got together for an evening out once a month. Representing a cross-section of the community, it has continued to flourish and provide enjoyable monthly events for its members and guests.

Karla Was Feted

Carmel City Hall associates of Karla Poff, who will be married to Captain George N. Allerton (USMC) in New River, North Carolina later this month, entertained her at dinner at the Mission Ranch October 22, which was also the eve of her birthday. Her hostesses were Mrs. Edd Fischer, Mrs. Mel Clement, Natalie Chipman and Mrs. Dorothy Ford.

Later, Karla was driven to the Floyd Adams home, where more friends surprised her with a lovely bridal shower. Joining in wishing her bon voyage and future happiness were Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Nick Allioti, Cordelia Manzer, Edina Robinson and Mrs. Hugh Bayless.

Festive Halloween

A throng of young Carmelites from all age groups had a "ball" Saturday night when Gloria, Larry and Peggy Dehnert invited their friends to a Halloween party in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Dehnert. Witches, pumpkins, black cats and miles of colored streamers decorated the Dehnerts' patios where the youngsters danced, played pranks and consumed a phenomenal amount of refreshments.

First Holiday Dance

On Friday evening, graduates of the Winter Dancing Classes attended a Halloween party at The Beach Club to dance to the music of Jimmy Hatlo's combo. The event was the first in a series of three dances sponsored by the Holiday Dance Committee under the direction of Mrs. Edmund von Hasseln, Mrs. John Julian and Mrs. William Hubbard.

Mrs. von Hasseln, chairman for the evening, was assisted by Dr. von Hasseln, Mr. and Mrs. John Julian, Mr. and Mrs. Thomson J. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Clark.

The Holiday Dances and the Winter Dancing Classes benefit the Community Hospital pediatric fund which the group has established.

The Rhyming Philosopher

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 129

Happiness is building castles
In the sand, with time deleted;
Tearing open Christmas parcels;
Resting after tasks completed.
Happiness is something saintly,
Far removed from strife and scheming,
Something childlike, often faintly
Mixed with fairy tales and dreaming.

Happiness has no restrictions
As to age or mental measures;
Nor imposes jurisdictions
On the length and breadth of pleasures.

Play a little, linger later,
See how slowing down reminds you
Speed is great, but Life is greater:
Happiness is where it finds you.

business in Carmel for 30 years and has left the managership of an Ocean Avenue grocery to assume his new duties.

Walt Pilot looks forward to relaxing after 16 years in the grocery business. He first came to Carmel as a six-year-old boy and recalls riding his bicycle here from his home in Sausalito to spend holidays in the cottage near the beach which his family rented for $12 a month. Later he returned to make his home here and operated a creamery on Ocean Avenue before opening Pilot's Market, then situated on Ocean Avenue.

"I'm not going anywhere, just going to enjoy peace of mind, whistling in the open and having time to enjoy life with my family," he declares. Walt and his wife, Lois, have three children, Walt Jr., and two daughters, Cindy, a student at Carmel High School, and Suzann, now married to Martin Luther Forster who is associated with the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

Schefflers Spanned Seasons

Even in two months, 10,000 miles is a long way to drive, but Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scheffler enjoyed almost every minute of their travels this summer, bridging the seasons into Fall and a first snowfall on their return route through the Canadian Rockies. Numerous ferry trips threaded their trip, beginning at Victoria, British Columbia, up through the Fraser River basin into the Yukon Klondike region and Alaska. In all, they followed the Alcan highway for 1,500 miles, stopping at Dawson, Fairbanks and Anchorage, as well as other less well-known places.

Journey Across The Sea

Mrs. Helen Emmons Arnold, chairman of the international visitors committee of the local World Affairs Council, has returned from a month of travel in Europe, having found Paris the hardest of all places to leave. It was in Paris, also, that she enjoyed a visit with former Peninsula residents Donnie and Bob Radcliffe, who are living in St. Cloud.

In Amsterdam, Mrs. Arnold was met by her son, Tom, who has been living and working in Europe for the past 15 months and who accompanied her on her travels. They picked up a car in London and returned to drive through northern France and Switzerland, where they saw the Milton Mayers in Goldern, before touring a bit of Germany.

Busy again with her many usual activities, Helen is now also in the midst of redecorating a new house and moving from her home on Camino Real in the Mission Tract.

Pamela Parker Married

Nearing the end of their honeymoon in Mexico are Dr. and Mrs. Robert Noel Fowler, the former Pamela Sloan Parker, whose wedding took place in Toronto, Canada, on October 23. The afternoon service was performed by Dr. Angus MacQueen at Saint George's United Church, which was decorated for the ceremony with large baskets of bronze and yellow spider chrysanthemums.

Pamela is the daughter of Mrs. Paul E. Chedester of Carmel and Howard S. Parker of Phoenix, Arizona, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bedford of Carmel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with a moulded empire bodice, long lily-point sleeves and a full length sheath skirt. Chantilly lace edged the Watteau train flowing from a shoulder bow and her waist-length illusion veil was held in place by a white satin ring. Her grandmother's pearls circled her throat and she carried an arrangement of dainty white chrysanthemums with white and gold roses.

Her attendants, Margaret Anne Hamilton, maid of honor, Mrs. John Ross Newall and Marlene Louise Lincoln, all of Toronto, were gowned alike in ensembles of champagne gold shantung, designed with floor-length sheath skirts and shell blouses. They wore gold velvet bows on their hair and carried nosegays of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums with myrtle streamers.

The bridegroom's best man was John Allen Shantz of Port Perry, Ontario. Dr. John Ross Newall and Bruce Ross Christie of Toronto seated the guests.

Mrs. Chedester witnessed her daughter's marriage wearing a street-length dress of champagne and gold brocade with matching pill box hat and bone accessories.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. H. B. Fowler, was attired in a pale pink satin brocade suit with which she wore a toque of fuchsia tulle.

The couple cut their wedding cake amid masses of autumn flowers at the reception held at the Skyline Hotel following the ceremony.

A graduate of the University of Toronto medical school, Dr. Fowler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Fowler of Toronto. He is in practice at Weston Medical Center in that city and is an associate staff member of Humber Memorial Hospital.

Pamela, who graduated from Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College, was a stewardess with American Airlines for three years and is now with the company's reservations department in its Toronto office.

Before returning to Toronto, where they will make their home, the newlyweds will spend a few days in Carmel to visit Pamela's family.

Beginning A Family

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstead are beaming over their new daughter—and first child—Karen Louise, who was born at Community Hospital on October 26. Karen's daddy is an instructor in the physics department at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School.

Goodbye To John Morses

Friends of Carmel's former city attorney, John Morse, and Mrs. Morse were preparing to invite them to a proper wake before their departure for Grant, Montana, but, with the moving vans at the door, the Morses are "jumping the gun" and leaving for their new home tomorrow or Saturday. Since temperatures at their ranch near Grant, run by their son, John Morse Jr., fall to 51 degrees below zero, they expect to return to Carmel often during the winter to warm up and to visit with their children and their friends here.

L'Alliance Francaise Activities

On October 27, Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard Weiss of the Institute of Foreign Studies in Monterey offered their home for the soiree honoring the changeover of the presidency of the L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula. Mrs. Bietry-Salinger Carlson, much admired president for the past three years, turned her duties over to Henri Corbat. The board of directors produced a gourmet buffet and French wines added a true Gallic spirit to the occasion.

On October 31, a Sunday brunch was held at the Carmel Valley Inn for members of l'Alliance. Guests of honor were the Consul General of Switzerland, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Studer of San Francisco, and two talented French-speaking artists Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Bard of Geneva.

During luncheon the new president of l'Alliance presented Mrs. Carlson with a beautiful silver statuette. This gift, "Red Balloon," was created by two Carmel artists, Malcolm Moran and Donald Buby, and was inspired by the French book "The Boy with the Red Balloon."

Mrs. Carlson in turn presented one of the vice presidents of l'Alliance with a lovely French book illustrated with famous art paintings. This was given in memory of Madame Legrand, well loved member of l'Alliance.

After luncheon, the large group of francophiles met at the Tantamount Theatre in the Valley for a performance of classical French theatre, in prose and poetry given by Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Bard.

Mrs. Carlson will leave for a little recreation and travel the end of this week, returning to Carmel in time for Thanksgiving.

U.C. Santa Cruz Pioneers

Among the 651 academic trailblazers enrolled at the University of California's new campus at Santa Cruz are Patrick Berdge, Jack Hermanson, Stanley A. Smith, all of Carmel, and Susan Linda Murphy of Pebble Beach.

Selected from 1,500 applicants, these young people are participants in a unique educational innovation aimed at combining the best of a small liberal arts college with the best of a large university. The students resident on campus are housed in trailers during this initial year of operation and, with the faculty, will move into permanent quarters in the fall of 1966.

SHOW OF WILDERNESS PRINTS

"Beauty In Wilderness," a collection of 20 color prints of wilderness scenes by C. Edward Graves, will open in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall on Monday and remain on display through November 24 during regular library hours. Each print is identified by a few sentences from Mr. Graves' tape-recorded color slide program text. This program has the same title as the print show. The latter was shown at the Santa Barbara Museum before moving to MPC and will be exhibited at the San Francisco Academy of Sciences after it closes on the Peninsula.

C. Edward Graves, a resident of Carmel for many years, has been exploring the western wilderness with camera and notebook since his first trip to Glacier National Park in 1913. Since 1945, when he retired from a career as a college librarian, he has devoted most of his time to this work. From 1953 to 1958 he served as western representative of the National Parks Association. Since then he has been a free-lance writer, photographer and lecturer.

The exhibition was developed with the advice of Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands, one of America's best-known photographers and conservationists.

Mr. Adams has written: "In his photographic work, Mr. Graves has placed the primary emphasis on wilderness appreciation. He wants to share wonderful wilderness experiences, and the selection of text and images certainly makes possible a rare communication of thought and feeling on a most vital subject of our time."

Artist Marlinde von Ruhs has invited friends to the Carmel Art Association this afternoon at 5:30 for a preview of her one-man show to be held in the Beardsley Room of the association's gallery from today to December 2.

The regular monthly exhibit by artist members of the association may also be seen in the gallery during the same period. Arch Garner served as chairman of the selection and hanging committee.

An exhibition of the work of Alex Gonzales of Carmel, Monterey Peninsula College art instructor, opened Monday at the Hartnell College Art Gallery in Salinas and will continue on view through November 24.

Planned primarily for student study, the show illustrates the development of painting the human figure. Included are drawings which "approach or precede" paintings, as well as paintings "which would be the result of such exercises," according to Mr. Gonzales.

A show of Ethiopian paintings will open at the gallery maintained by the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts on Saturday. Until November 30, this work may be seen from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 2-5 p.m. on Saturdays. The gallery is on Lincoln Street south of Ocean Avenue.

On Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Linden G. Leavitt Jr., who acquired the paintings while Dr. Leavitt was associated with Haile Selassie University in Addis Ababa, have invited guests to a private showing.

On November 10, the AFA chapter has arranged for a bus tour to San Francisco which will include museum shows of Southwest Indian arts and photography.

The Indian arts on display at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor, are pottery, jewelry, dolls, metalwork and paintings. The show fills six galleries and contains 750 items.

The photographs to be seen on the tour are in the George Eastman House Photographic Exhibition at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum and illustrate, by means of prints by some of the world's most perceptive photographers, the first 64 years of the Twentieth Century. This exhibition was first shown at the New York World's Fair in 1964.

Also at the de Young is a display of "Continental Table Porcelain of the 18th Century" and 12 table settings using elaborate tableware and accessories from private collections to illustrate how the old and the new can be effectively combined for contemporary dining.

The bus departs at 8 a.m. and returns at approximately 7:30 p.m. and a smorgasbord luncheon will give tour-takers a breather between the two museums. Reservations are necessary and may be made by telephoning AFA headquarters (624-2918).

New members of the Carmel Art Association, accepted for active artist membership on Monday evening, are Nancy Johnson, Y. S. Lim and Keith Lindberg, all of Carmel, and Eric Hitchcock of Salinas.

Marine Corps Seeks Increased Personnel

The Marine Corps has modified its length of enlistments to meet an authorized 30,000 increase in personnel strength. This new expansion makes possible a two-year active duty assignment for a limited number of volunteers.

Young men may become "active-duty reservists" by volunteering as reservists, serving only two years on active duty and then reverting to an inactive reserve status. Three and four year enlistments are also available.

Many youths fear they cannot "make the grade" as a Marine. Ninety-five percent of the men who enlist do make it because they respond to the fine training and exceptional spirit of the corps.

Further information on the Marine Corps may be obtained from a Marine Corps representative at the Monterey post office building every Monday and Wednesday, also every other Friday, or by phoning, collect, the Salinas main office anytime (422-8337).

ANNUAL MPVS LUNCHEON

The one time during the year when Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services members deliberately play instead of work will occur tomorrow at Spindrift restaurant when sums earned at the recent Tombola Mart will be distributed to the Visiting Nurse Association, the Regional Center Cancer Treatment Fund of Community Hospital and Handicapped Activities Unlimited.

The luncheon marks the close of the fourth successive year of the Tombola Mart. Since the financial committee will not release final figures of the amount earned at this year's event until the moment the checks are presented, there is much speculation as to whether or not this year's success will outdistance that of former years.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Carmel and Pacific Grove area will join fellow ministers from Campbell, Los Gatos, Santa Cruz, Gilroy, Watsonville, Hollister and the Salinas Valley in a circuit convention November 18-21, at the Salinas Valley fairgrounds, King City. Francis Goetz, of Palo Colorado Canyon, presiding minister here, will head the local group.

New ministers will be ordained at a mass baptism in a pool at King City on November 22, Bill Lange of Carmel, who is supervising the baptism, says.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Until the remodeling of the library basement is completed, the processing department and the librarian's office are situated in Sunset Center, Room 2. New restrooms will be a blessing, especially the one for the gentlemen, which we hope they will be. If you could see what the public does to public restrooms you would be amazed. This librarian will be rejoicing in an office with a ceiling and painted walls a soft yellow. A sunshine thing, God wot!!

Of new books we have a few, all high quality merchandise, of course. "THOMAS" is the title of a book about Saint Thomas which was written by Shelley Mydans. Carefully researched and beautifully written, here is a book for the reader who loves good writing. Thomas a Becket, holy martyr of the Church, his life, his passion, and the miracles which followed his death.

Writing from experience, and with the long lens of history to help her, Hertha Pauli has written "THE SECRET OF SARAJEVO, THE STORY OF FRANZ FERDINAND AND SOPHIE." Author Pauli was born in Austria, and one of her early memories concerns the telephone call her mother received telling her of the assassination of the archduke and his wife. This is the intimate story of the Austrian royal family, not the story of the world affairs which brought on the first World War.

It is said that Constantine saw a flaming cross in the sky during the battle with Maxentious. From this he accepted Christianity. He lived during the third and fourth centuries and the latest historical novel by Frank Slaughter which deals with the life and times of Constantine is entitled "CONSTANTINE, THE MIRACLE OF THE FLAMING CROSS." This book is one of a series being published by Doubleday under the general title The Pathway of Faith Series, which may interest you and again it may not.

A new book on conservation by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, is entitled "A WILDERNESS BILL OF RIGHTS." The photographs showing pollution of streams, which he uses to illustrate his thesis, are frightening. Justice Douglas presents a strong case for conservation and the prestige of his name may cause people to listen who might otherwise ignore this very vital problem.

If the fire insurance on your house is in order and paid, the next book may be for you. "HOW TO BE YOUR OWN HOME ELECTRICIAN" is by George Daniels. The book is well illustrated and the illustrations seem plain enough if you know something about electricity to begin with. Pretty confusing to us ignorant ones. So what if you arrange a short circuit and your house burns down! You can always buy another.

Mario Pei has a new revised edition of his "THE STORY OF LANGUAGE," which has become a classic since it was first published about 1949. This revised edition includes such languages as Vietnamese and certain African languages, and also nonlinguistic systems of communication.

"TODAY'S OUTSTANDING BUYS IN FREIGHTER TRAVEL" is a very complete handling of an interesting subject. Any person trying for a reservation on a freighter seems to need several months for obtaining space and patience is a prime virtue in such a case. This book lists freighter travel from all over the world, with length of time for the voyage and prices. It also includes a practical plan for the retired person to live permanently on a freighter, seeing the world for about $7 a day. No duties, no worries, no debts. The book ends with a long and convenient list of steamship companies and their addresses.

Shakespeare Play Opens Tomorrow At Circle Theatre

Carmel's Golden Bough Players will inaugurate the coming holiday season tomorrow evening with a production of William Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors." It will run on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through December 19. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. at the Circle Theatre.

Featured in the cast will be Nick Zanides and Peter Kuehn as the handsome young twins separated since birth by a shipwreck, and Norman McPhee and Dick Bird as their equally indistinguishable bondservants. April Edwards will play the confused wife of one of the twins, and Jonne-Marie Feiten is cast as her pretty sister, bewildered by a proposal of marriage from a man she believes to be her brother-in-law.

Fort Ord actor Horace Upshaw will play the Duke of Ephesus, and Regina Hicks makes her local debut as the long-lost mother of the noble twins. The large cast also includes Glenn Kovacevich, Robert Butts, Paul Feiten, Paul Chrostowski, Don Laird, Bill Isaacs, John Russell, Steve Smith, Katrin Stoney and Joan Swartz, with a special guest appearance by Ruth Crews in the early weeks of the run. Staging is by Frederick Rider, costuming by Jean Cahill.

Texas Boys Choir To Give Concert In Pacific Grove

Second in the concert series presented by the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association will be the Texas Boys Choir on Wednesday in the Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Founded in 1946 by George Bragg, its musical director, the Texas Boys Choir has been acclaimed in more than 700 concert engagements.

Twenty-six boys are traveling on the current tour. These are the specially trained group of the 150-member permanent organization at the Fort Worth Boys Choir Foundation.

The choir topped choral aggregations from all parts of the world in Wales' Eisteddfod, performed at the Festival of Holland, also in London's Westminster Abbey, and sang High Mass for Pope John XXIII at St. Peter's in Rome.

Appropriately costumed for whatever they are singing, they will wear medieval vestments, traditional choirboy flannels, and full cowboy regalia.

Attendance at the concert is limited to members of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association and similar associations on a space available basis.

Major Thomas McGregor (left), son of Colonel (USA ret.) and Mrs. Thomas McGregor of Pebble Beach, receives the Army Commendation Medal from Brigadier General Elias C. Townsend, assistant commandant, U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, during ceremonies at the fort last month. Major McGregor received the award for meritorious service as senior instructor in the Missile Science Division, Command and Staff Department, Army Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Texas, from June 1964 to June 1965. The major is presently attending the regular course at the Army Command and General Staff College.

He received his bachelor of science degree from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, in 1953 and his master of science degrees in 1963 and 1965 from the University of Arizona.

Marie Gibson Recital Most Rare Experience

By Dr. Idelle Sullens

Marie Gibson's recital at the MPC music hall on Friday attracted a capacity audience of her admirers. The ambitious program in eight parts did not begin with Bach—though Miss Gibson enthralled hundreds at last summer's Bach Festival with her impeccable interpretation—but with Wagner, the aria "Dich, teure Halle," from Tannhauser. And her selections, all of them romantic, post-romantic, or nearly contemporary, comprised a most unusual musical experience. Mrs. Anita Priest, a pianist of great stature, accompanied Miss Gibson admirably. The understanding and unity of artistic purpose between them made the entire performance most memorable.

During the earlier part of the program, Miss Gibson sang a group of Schubert leider, the aria, "Und ob die Wolke" from von Weber's "Der Freishutz," and five superlatively lovely pieces by Strauss, including "Standchen," "Meinem Kinde," and "Mein Auge," to mention the most impressive ones, demonstrating her remarkable versatility and maturity as a concert artist. One occasionally felt that she was adjusting to the small auditorium. The music hall is intimate and does not permit the voice to float several hundred feet and back again. But Miss Gibson kept the audience enthralled with clear, lovely notes in all registers. When the Strauss pieces demanded a range of dynamics more appropriate to an ampler concert hall, she adjusted her projection accordingly.

Miss Gibson's beauty and personality and her absolute mastery of her repertoire made everything seem easy. She began the second half of the program with the air and gavotte from Massenet's "Manon." One felt that her interest in the recital repertoire is only surpassed by her absolute delight in the operatic masterpieces. The concert singer conveys a unified auditory and visual image at all times, a personality that rises somewhat above the implied art of the songs themselves, whereas the operatic aria asks us to forget ourselves for a time and to belong to the dramatic moment, to be Musetta or Elisabeth; in short, to experience another's joy, to feel another's sorrow.

During the remainder of the program, the audience responded, often with exuberance or astonishment, but more as though they were listening to an accomplished friend sing in a large drawing room. All the customary formalities of the recital situation were forgotten as the remarkable range and depth of the artist's performance became clear with each group of songs.

In the French group, Miss Gibson sang two selections by Duparc and three by Faure, a composer whose work she has recorded. Here she had absolute mastery of the acoustical properties of the small auditorium, and the French pieces were surpassed only by the group from the Spanish by Obradors in perfection of intonation and phrasing. In the last group, including most notably songs by Randall Thompson and familiar selections by Richard Hageman, Miss Gibson's style was quite dazzling. She lives in her art; she makes every song her own. And her audience feels precisely as she wishes them to feel—a most rare experience.

This concert by an artist of the first rank opened another season of free recitals at Monterey Peninsula College, arranged by Miss Angie Machado of the music department. The other artists in the series will be the French flautist DeBost, the Pacific String Trio, and the Duo di Roma, piano and cello.

Episcopal School Held Open House

The All Saints' Episcopal Day School held an open house so that parents, friends and neighbors could inspect its new Carmel Valley quarters on Wednesday.

Mrs. Sidney Williams coordinated plans with the help of staff. Mrs. Samuel Hopkins was in charge of refreshments.

When the school, then called the Bishop Kip School, was opened in the Fall of 1961, 30 pupils were enrolled in kindergarten and first grade. Two years later, the school moved to the old Community Hospital Annex and expanded its curriculum to serve children through the sixth grade. The first building on the seven-acre Carmel Valley property was completed last May.

Enrollment at the school this fall is 92, including 28 children from Carmel, 24 from Pebble Beach, 18 from Monterey, nine from Carmel Valley, five each from Pacific Grove and Seaside, two from Fort Ord, and one from Corral de Tierra.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Scriptural readings on Adam and Eve and Cain and Abel are examined in Christian Science church services this week. The subject is "Adam and Fallen Man."

The Golden Text is from Ecclesiastes: "Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions."

A theme of redemption is brought out in some passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook: "The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortals the truer reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow, — thoughts which presented man as fallen, sick, sinning, and dying" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 259).

Dr. Zelma George, distinguished sociologist, humanitarian, actress-singer and recognized authority on Negro music, will be on the Monterey Peninsula College campus today and tomorrow as Danforth visiting lecturer-in-residence and second speaker in MPC's "Roots of Prejudice" series.

Today she addressed students, faculty and the interested public on "The You in the UN" in the MPC Music Hall.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock she will appear at a "coffee hour" in the student union. At 1 p.m. in the music hall, she will give a lecture-recital on "Understanding the Negro Spiritual." The public is invited to attend both events without charge.

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Armory, she will lecture on "The Negro: Problems, Goals, Methods."

Carmel Woman's Club Carnival Will Feature Fair, Supper, Olio

Everyone is invited to the Carmel Woman's Club fund raising carnival which will be held November 11 at the clubhouse on San Carlos and Ninth Streets. Since this is the day set apart in remembrance of veterans of all wars, a portion of the proceeds are to be donated to the Disabled War Veterans of Monterey County.

The carnival, consisting of two parts, will begin with a fair from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A variety of merchandise, either handmade or donated by club members, will be offered for sale at gaily decorated booths, including a Christmas table, a "Farmers' Market," and, for antique lovers, a collection of unusual antique buttons at the antique booth. A raffle will be held of gifts which have been generously donated by Peninsula merchants.

Beginning at 6 p.m., a buffet supper will be served preceding the olio entertainment to be presented by the Troupers of the Gold Coast of the First Theatre, who are also donating their time and talents to the endeavor.

Mrs. Alexander Cleary, club president, is being assisted by Major Frances Ewing (USA ret.), ways and means chairman, and Mrs. Rhea Diveley, program chairman.

Council For Retarded Children Fund Drive

Major John Wecker of Carmel, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Council for Retarded Children, presided at the kick-off meeting of the organization's $10,000 fund drive on Monday evening in Casa Estrada.

Door to door canvassing will be undertaken by council members and volunteers throughout November.

The major portion of the money collected will be used to support Gateway Center, a five-classroom development in Seaside for retarded minors.

Major Wecker pointed out that Gateway Center is the only educational facility on the Peninsula that will accept the 35 children enrolled. They are not eligible for any of the public school programs for retarded children. There are others that the school can help as the program, now staffed by two teachers, and five matrons, expands.

Carmel chairmen for the council's fund drive are Norma Pulle and Claridine Van Fleet. Any person wishing to help with the drive, or donate money, may telephone Mrs. Nancy Cal (373-4610), or Dr. Patricia L. May (375-7816), co-chairmen of the Peninsula-wide fund raising effort.

Information From National Red Cross On Aid To Viet Nam

The Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross has received communications from the organization's western area office in San Francisco reporting national headquarters' stand on Viet Nam aid, including blood donations, also that the Red Cross has no association with students' Viet Cong aid.

A telegram from the American National Red Cross states that information reaching national headquarters indicates that local organizations and individuals are acting to counteract recent anti-Viet Nam demonstrations and have asked Red Cross chapters to accept supplies, such as Christmas cards, gifts, cookies and candies, for shipment through the Red Cross to American military personnel in Viet Nam.

The national Red Cross organization has reviewed this matter with Pentagon officials and elicited the fact that, before any items are sent, approval of the American command in Viet Nam should be obtained. Red Cross workers in Saigon have been asked to determine what items are needed, and in what quantities the command wishes the Red Cross to accept and ship any supplies.

A letter from national headquarters states that the U.S. Department of Defense has asked the Red Cross to undertake the collections of students' blood as the designated agency for such collections for the nation's defense whenever necessary. Red Cross bloodmobiles will be used for this purpose on college and university campuses. At present, the letter says, "There are no emergency requirements for blood in Viet Nam."

The blood donated will be used by the Department of Defense within the U.S. to prevent hepatitis and treat servicemen for shock.

A third communication from Red Cross national headquarters indicates that the organization "has no connection with efforts being made to collect blood, funds or other relief supplies for Viet Cong or North Viet Nam."

So far, the Carmel Red Cross chapter has met with requests from the national office for paperback books, also the making of ditty bags, for U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

Council Moves From Auctions To Fire Engine

had indicated to Mr. Burleigh that this hour was "impossible."

The council agreed that records should be kept of the purchase price paid by an auction firm for articles offered for sale, also records of the price paid by a member of the public for these articles, and that the confidential records should be presented to the chief of police then placed in custody of the city clerk. Purpose of this agreement was to protect the public.

The maximum number of seats allowable in any public sales premises involved zoning and this as well as the total draft of the proposed auction sales ordinance should be studied by the council's committee on public welfare, the council decided. Following a report from the committee, the ordinance will be considered next month.

At the request of Carvel Baldwin, chairman of the Klenke Committee, the council postponed installation of new street lights on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh. At the council's December meeting, Mr. Baldwin will present costs for gas, instead of electric lighting, and standards other than the 30-foot high ones the council approved last month.

Mr. Baldwin promised that he would demonstrate to the council that the people of Carmel do not want street lights which are "a radical, modern departure." Citizens want "beautiful lighting," he declared.

The benches in all Ocean Avenue center island pass-throughs will be eliminated and those in the block between Lincoln and Monte Verde, also Mission and Junipero, closed, the council ordered. At a prior meeting removal of all the pass-throughs was ordered as a safety measure. The matter was reconsidered last night at the request of Mayor Herbert Blanks who said that elimination of these walkways would "change the character of the town."

PARKING ORDINANCE

A public hearing on the new ordinance demanding off-street, or in lieu parking, for all new business buildings, also major remodelling, was set for December 8 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

New stop signs were authorized at Junipero and Third; on Ocean Avenue at Casanova, Camino Real and Carmelo; on Eighth at Dolores, Camino Real and Carmelo.

The council requested cost estimates as a preliminary step in providing sheds on the Forest Theater stage to protect valuable acoustical and lighting equipment. The street department will now assume responsibility for putting green maintenance, formerly done by the Lions Club, at Forest Hill Park. Two rest rooms will be constructed at this senior recreation center. The city will provide labor and machinery and the Carmel Seniors Club will pay the $300 cost of materials.

The council approved use of the former art room at Sunset Center for use by the arts commission as a young people's museum of art as recommended by the Sunset Commission. Use of another room by the Harrison Memorial Library was approved, too. The library will pay the city $50 a month rent during the six weeks remodeling of the library basement is going on.

Mary Lynn Jacobsen was employed as staff secretary at city hall and Albert A. Shears as a senior streetman. A letter of appreciation was authorized for Rudolph Lange who has retired from the street department after nine and a half years' service.

Received by the council was a California Automobile Association plaque honoring the fact that, for 20 years, there has been no pedestrian fatality in Carmel.

"Let's keep our fingers crossed!" remarked the Mayor.

NEW FIRE ENGINE

As midnight approached, the council authorized Fire Chief Bob Baker to obtain specifications and bids for a new pumper and equipment for it: estimated cost of $36,000. City Clerk Hugh Bayless proposed that this expense should be met over a six-year period, starting next July, by means of a lease purchase agreement with a bank. Payments would be $6,000 per year. Interest, amounting to $3,300, to be paid from income from invested city reserve funds.

Chief Baker informed the council that the 36-year-old pumper, which will be replaced by the new engine, is qualified to have an antique car license. Delivery of the new engine is expected in July, 1966.

Carvel Baldwin of the Klenke Committee, a retired banker, told the council that the proposed financing of the new pumper was "a wise move."

The council decided that, for one year, a Carmel High School student should be employed by the fire department, at no cost to the city, under the federal governments' program to remedy high school drop-out problems.

County Planners To Consider Additions To Highlands Inn

On November 12 at 10:05 a.m., the Monterey County Planning Commission will reconsider remodeling of Highlands Inn.

Last month, Highlands Inn Inc. applied for a use permit to allow added motel units. In December of 1964, the inn was granted such a permit for 20 additional units. Now it is desired to move a section of the development closer to the swimming pool which is not being used to its maximum capacity because of a wind problem.

The California Division of Highways has no objection to the new proposal but did ask that an encroachment be obtained if work is done within the state right of way. The Highlands-Bixby advisory committee to the planning commission had no objection to the proposal when it was first presented on October 11.

The matter was continued until next Friday so that the applicant could consult the county road department.

FREE FILM AT MPC

"Baltic Express," a 1959 award-winning Polish film, will be shown at Monterey Peninsula College twice on November 12.

Two screenings are scheduled in the MPC Music Hall—at 7 and 9 p.m. Free tickets for either showing—limited to two per request—will be available at the college administration building switchboard starting tomorrow. Mail requests will be honored when accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Also known as "Night Train," the film portrays a manhunt through the corridors of a speeding express bound for a Polish seaside resort. It has been described as "a drama of human relationships expressing the theme, 'Everyone wants to be loved. Nobody wants to love.'"

TOASTMASTERS MET

A warm welcome was extended to John Nixon by the Carmel Toastmasters at the meeting held last night at the Carmel High School library. Mr. Nixon, the former district governor of Toastmasters from Omaha, Nebraska, has just recently established his residence at the Country Club.

Next week's meeting will be a debate among the members. Resolved: that right to work laws protect our individual freedoms.

Greek Halloween

No witches or pumpkins, no black cats or glowing skulls were in evidence at the Halloween party with an unconventional twist which was given Saturday evening by Ben and Karen Lyon, Richard Penoyer and Joan Snow. Although guests at the Lyons' home were invited to appear in Greek costume, the festivities were just as effective as any hobgoblins could have produced.

IT'S OUR ANNIVERSARY

Once again our anniversary date has rolled around and this year there have been some changes made. We have enlarged our office, have expanded our services to include American Mutual Listing Service as well as our other local, state and national affiliations, we have added a coast properties division headed by Hank Adams and we have added delightful Florence Harper and Tyi O'Connor to our staff. Guy Stohr, Fran Mauer and Helen Ireland have continued to serve our clients with their own brands of friendly, conscientious effort. Our secretary, Ruth Clampett, continues to be our cherished secret weapon. We have grown no less sentimental in the year just past and this year, as always, we would like to repeat the ad with which we began our business as a kind of renewed pledge to our clients.

"CLEAN THE CUSPIDORS"

In my first real estate office job (I was 14) I copied documents, filed things, and weekly polished the three brass cuspidors. I don't know that this experience was valuable as far as real estate goes, but I can still remember what my boss said in assigning me the latter job: "There's only one way to run a real estate office: everything has to be CLEAN." An old-fashioned idea to which we still cling. We promise our clients that the properties we list and offer for sale have "clean" financing-mortgages from stable lenders which are safe to assume; that our properties will be fairly priced for today's market; that all facts regarding them will be available to our buyers. If your home is available, or if you want to buy a new one, we would like to show you how old-fashioned real estate service can help make this your happiest year.

"CARMEL ONLY. DON'T WASTE TIME TELLING US ABOUT ANYTHING ELSE."

O.K. HERE WE HAVE:

1. Sparkles like built yesterday, two bedrooms each with beautiful bath, (Wonderful income record from the one with outside entrance) solarium, double garage, handsome pine tree and just enough lawn to set off the prettiness of this "almost new" house offered at sacrifice price of $31,500.
2. No sparkle here because it needs a "shining up." Excellent structural condition with wise use of brick trim. Fine trees and shrubs (need pruning) and larger than average lot. Two bedrooms, one bath . . . wonderful location and perfect for one or two persons or as weekender. Or for the investor who has the "know how" and a few tools, paint brushes, etc. $28,500 with terms open.
3. This not only sparkles, it shines brightly in the midst of a wooded setting. Gives the feeling of complete privacy yet only three blocks from Sambo's. But, why would one go out to eat when one might cook in a sunshine kitchen with poppy-strewn walls? Three bedrooms, two baths, 22 ft. living room, and complete renovation job already done. What more could one ask for at $34,500 excepting good financing, and that is available, too!
4. Yes, we have a fourth one, a fifth one, sixth, seventh, . . . until you are satisfied but we no longer have that rare old Victorian or the little Brown Sparrow or the excellent buy in Mission Fields. They are SOLD, so is that Masterpiece on one-half acre in Pacific Grove and the charming Victorian with a guest house as a bonus . . . But, speaking quietly because we aren't supposed to mention anyplace but Carmel, we do have that very special unit in Hacienda Carmel and that old-world Spanish Casa in lovely Monte Regio, and an exceptionally choice building site in Upper Pebble Beach with an unobstructable OCEAN VIEW for only $15,500.

City Officials Slide Down Brass Pole On Council Tree Tour

Negative reactions were expressed by the city council on its November tree tour meeting Tuesday afternoon. No action was taken on two tree removal requests, a third was denied and a street improvement proposal was turned down. But three city officials were applauded when they slid down the brass pole during a tour of the fire house.

Faced with the almost treeless state of Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues, the council decided to retain two black acacias in front of property owned by A. C. Lafrenz. His complaint that the roots of these trees were damaging the sidewalk and allowing water to seep into the basement of his building had already been remedied by the street department installing new paving. In addition, the council noted that, in 1958, Mr. Lafrenz had been given permission to cut down the acacias but failed to do so. His permit expired in 1959 and the fact that the acacias are the only trees on city property on the west side of Dolores caused the council to determine to take no action on removing them although this species is undesirable in California, according to City Forester Hugh Smith.

Mayor Herbert Blanks pointed out that the acacias and four small pines across the street are the only trees in this block.

"It is about time to take action," he stated. As a result the forestry commission will be asked to study and recommend tree planting for this area.

Street Superintendent William Askew Jr. reported that the tangle of underground utility and sewer lines along both sides of this block presents problems. It will be hard to find areas where trees may have enough ground in which to grow. Mr. Smith suggested that pines, therefore, might be planted in sidewalk boxes.

The council decided that the roots of a city pine extending into, and uprooting, the asphalt patio of a house belonging to Mrs. Florence Leidig at Carpenter and Second were not a responsibility of the city and took no action. Mr. Smith stated that the roots could be cut by Mrs. Leidig and not damage the tree.

He said that the two small oaks which Miss Frances Bliss wished removed at the corner of Camino Real and Thirteenth were healthy trees and would fill space artistically as they grew. The council voted against their removal.

A negative vote was given to the proposal of Dr. W. H. Harper that he and the city share the expense of street construction and drainage at Fourth and Monte Verde. A precedent would be established if this work were agreed upon the council decided. Favorable action would have resulted in a cooperative project in which all property owners concerned were not sharing, with the city, the expense of the project.

An assessment district was suggested as a remedy for the present condition of the unimproved Fourth Street right-of-way north of Monte Verde. In addition, the council noted that the plan presented by Dr. Harper incurred drainage over private property which was legally unacceptable procedure.

Also on the tree tour, the council, at the invitation of Fire Chief Robert Baker, inspected the fire house. The chief pointed out minor deterioration and desirable improvements in the 27-year-old building, "just for the council to be thinking about," he stressed.

Before the council left the fire station, City Forester Hugh Smith, City Attorney William Burleigh and Street Superintendent William Askew enlivened proceedings when they bravely slid from the second story to the ground floor on the firemen's shiny brass pole.

New Security Bank Executives Named

William A. Burkett, president of Security National Bank of Monterey County, today announced the appointment of Commander Willard D. Hoot as the bank's trust officer and head of its legal department. He succeeds Owen C. Teeters, who has been promoted to the position of executive vice president.

Commander Hoot served as legal counselor at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey prior to his retirement. He received his L.L.B. degree from the University of Michigan Law School. He also attended the Army Judge Advocate General's School where he received his master's degree in law. From 1947 to 1950, he served on the staff of the Superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. Commander Hoot is a member of the Ohio State Bar and American Bar Association and has been admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court. He and his wife, Henrietta, live in Carmel Meadows.

Owen Teeters served for the past 20 years as an officer in a commercial bank in Michigan and also as a bank examiner of that state. He is a graduate of Michigan State University and has been an instructor for the American Institute of Banking. He and his wife reside in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club area of Pebble Beach.

Wells Fargo Officer

Fred Duhring is president of the board of trustees of the Harrison Memorial Library; first vice chairman, and 1966 fund drive chairman, of the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross; committee treasurer of Boy Scout Troop 86; treasurer of the Carmel Little League; and a member of the board of governors of the Community Theatre. He also belongs to the Sierra Club and the Commonwealth Club of California.

He and his wife, Faith, and their two sons, Frederick, 13, and John, 12, reside in Carmel.

Editor's Column . . .

lamps with ornate wrought iron arms such as were developed in the Gay Nineties for San Francisco.

Still again, it has been suggested that pines be planted and street lights attached to these trees. This would resemble present lighting in the commercial district of Palm Springs where street lights are attached to palms with wiring running unashamedly up the trees' trunks.

Neither the proposed new lights, nor any of the other proposals, are original . . . and originality is the key to the character of Carmel.

Fortunately, however, the council has decreed that at the foot of each tall, naked street light standard there shall be a sidewalk area for landscaping and tree planting. A pine, planted at the base of a pole and carefully nurtured should, in five years or so, just about hide it, even if it is growing in a box as was proposed Tuesday for Dolores Street.

Trees have always been our salvation.

Sixty years ago no trees existed between Camino Real and the ocean. But Frank Powers and Frank Devendorf, the original developers of Carmel, were original. Cypresses were planted along Scenic and San Antonio, pines elsewhere, and look what we have today.

So let us look hopefully towards a business district where utility poles have disappeared and trees flourish in soft showers of light, whatever the source . . . but only until someone develops an original Carmel-type street light and standard.

None now exists. M.L.
